

Emotions, like barbed wire, are painful, dangerous, twisted rusted by time and salty rain too often ignored by careless trespassers who fail to see the posted signs and cut the wires
the wires that hold a person's soul intact.